RESTAURANT MEN TO SEE EXHIBIT

Potato Peelers, Biscuit
Makers and Dish Washers to Be Shown.

L. H. LEDGER,
Executive chairman of the convention committee.

The program for the five-day convention of the National Restaurant Association which opens at Convention Hall Monday will be an educational one, it is asserted by A. B. Carder, general secretary of the association, who has opened headquarters here.

There will be a complete exhibit of restaurant and catering equipment, to show the public how restaurants prepare and serve food under modern sanitary conditions.

During the proceedings addresses will include every known piece of machinery used in a modern restaurant, from one that peels potatoes or makes biscuits or rolls to those used for dish washing and drying. The exhibit, it is said, will represent an outlay of almost a quarter of a million dollars.

During the proceedings addresses will be delivered by experts, who will describe efforts that are being made by the membership of the association to protect the public health in the serving of food.

The Restaurant Men as a Public Health Agent—What He Can Do to Preserve His Public Health Function—will be the subject of an address Wednesday by Dr. E. A. Peterson of Cleveland, director of the Cuyahoga County Health Association.

Guy Gundaker of Philadelphia is scheduled for a talk on "A Restaurant Code of Ethics" and "The Restaurant Owner's Obligation as Guardian of the Public Health" will be discussed by J. Harry Joyce of Portland, Ore.

Members of the Washington Restaurant Association, hosts to the national association, have prepared an elaborate entertainment program for the week, including a banquet on the balcony at Convention Hall, during which time there will be dancing.

On Tuesday night the president's reception and an informal dance will be held at Rauscher's, and on Wednesday night there will be a banquet at the Willard Hotel. Thursday afternoon will be given over to a visit to Mount Vernon by boat and a view of points of interest on the way.

A letter from President Harding expressing "sincere appreciation" for the efforts of the newly-formed National Aeronautic Association in developing aviation and conveying his best wishes for the success of the Pulitzer cup races, to begin in Detroit on October 11, was made public yesterday at association headquarters here.

The President's letter was addressed to Howard E. Coffin, chairman of the organization committee, and said, in part:

"I have many times given expression to my interest in the development of aviation. A strong and healthy commercial aviation development is a prerequisite to all national plans involving our national security and welfare. It is with the greatest satisfaction that I extend to the Detroit Aviation Society and, through your committee, to the National Aeronautic Association my sincere appreciation of the objects you are seeking and my best wishes for the complete success both of the October contests and of the national convention to be held coincident therewith."

WATERWAYS CONGRESS.

Eighteenth Meeting Scheduled
Here December 6 and 7.

The eighteenth convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress will be held here at the New Willard Hotel on December 6 and 7. It was announced today by the executive committee. The official call is to be issued later.

Those in charge declare broader significance will be attached to the convention this session in view of the recent railroad strike and the present shortage of railroad cars, which has served to bring the public to a fuller realization of the importance of maintaining its waterways.

Leaders in the railroad, waterway and highway industries have come to feel, officials say, that they will serve public needs and their own interests better by working together rather than continuing a wasteful war of illumination. These two subjects will be discussed in their broad sense at the meeting.

This will be the second convention of the waterways congress this year. The first was held in March, having been postponed from December of last year.

TALKS ON DEVELOPMENT OF NATIONAL CAPITAL

Charles Moore, Fine Arts Commission Chairman, Makes Address at Club Dinner.

Charles Moore, chairman of the Fine Arts Commission, presided last evening at the regular Thursday dinner of the Arts Club, which was attended by more than fifty of his fellow members and their guests. After the dinner in the parlors of the club, in the presence of an audience increased by late arrivals, Mr. Moore gave an informal talk on the subject of the plans for the development of Washington as the federal city. The topic that had been assigned to him, he said, was "The White King," but he preferred not to assume such a role inasmuch as kings are now rapidly going out of fashion.

The development of the plans for the capital, Mr. Moore said, is necessarily a long matter, owing to the failure of the people of the country to appreciate their nature and the need of consistent advancement. But much has been accomplished and more is in immediate prospect. The expansion of the park system of the District is progressing, though obstacles are offered by the rapid upbuilding of

What Dr. Pearl E. Hood
Thinks of Germinol

Has Used It For Years

Dr. Pearl E. Hood is one of Washington's best known and most successful chiropodists. Her office is located at 821 F street northwest, where she conducts a substantial practice. Dr. Hood has used Germinol for years in her own practice and has found it extremely efficient at all times, particularly in severe cases of Bromidrosis (the medical name for perspiring feet).

Germinol contains free oxygen. When Germinol comes in contact with the dampness of the foot, this free oxygen neutralizes the unpleasant odor of the perspiration. But if that were all, Germinol would not meet with the approval of so many chiropodists.

Germinol has extraordinary vitalizing properties which stimulate circulation of blood throughout the feet. It regulates the action of the sweat glands, which cause the perspiration and thus up the tissues and muscles of the feet. Extremely effective also where the skin is cracked and scaly—a condition often noticeable between the toes.

You will find Germinol cooling, soothing, healing and thoroughly effective. Your shoes will last longer because there will be no acid in the perspiration to rot away the shoe lining and crack the leather.

When suffering from serious ailments of the feet be sure to consult a good chiropodist.

But in cases of sweating feet, tired, aching feet, tender, burning feet, blisters due to poor circulation, etc.—Germinol is a product that you can rely upon as a remedy that will get to the cause of the trouble and remove it. It is the endorsement of the finest type of chiropodists, who have known and used it for years before it was offered to the public.

Do not confuse Germinol with ordinary foot powders, which cannot have the same effectiveness as this highly scientific professional product. There is nothing like it on the market today.

Get Germinol at any of the Peoples Drug Company's 12 stores, the O'Donnell Drug Store, the National Drug Store, the Palais Royal, Woodward & Lothrop and the Department Store, or by The Belmont Company, Chemists, Springfield, Mass.—Advertisement.
